Active At-Home Scavenger Hunt

Scavenger hunts can promote curiosity, learning, and physical activity as you search for objects and explore your environment.

Try these fun and simple activities to get your family moving while at home or out and about. If you are in a public place and cannot pick up items you find, take pictures or point out your fun finds to each other as you go!

Senses-Driven Scavenger Hunt

For families with younger children in grades K-2

Build awareness of colors and senses

To get started:

1. Have every family member pick a color from the RAINBOW ROUNDUP.
2. Have every family member pick a description from the SENSE FINDER.

During your scavenger hunt:

1. All pause and participate in each activity when someone finds an item.
2. The first person to find both of their items gets to assign each family member a new RAINBOW ROUNDUP color for the next round.

RAINBOW ROUNDUP

- When you find a RED item, RUN in place or ROCK side to side for 10 seconds.
- When you find an ORANGE item, OPEN your arms as wide as you can for 10 seconds.
- When you find a YELLOW item, hold one YOGA pose of your choice for 10 seconds.
- When you find a GREEN item, squat and swing your arms from side to side like a GORILLA for 10 seconds.
- When you find a BLUE item, BALANCE an object on the back of your hand or foot for 10 seconds.
- When you find a PURPLE item, PLAY a pretend sport with your family by acting out throwing, catching, swinging, kicking, and playing defense.

SENSE FINDER

- When you find something SHINY, draw a circle in the air with your arms or feet 10 times.
- When you find something SOFT, reach toward your toes and hold for 10 seconds.
- When you find something that makes NOISE, dance in place for 10 seconds.
- When you find something that SMELLS GOOD, skip or hop for 10 steps.
- When you find something that TASTES GOOD, shuffle your feet and arms in place for 10 seconds.

Active At-Home Scavenger Hunt

Word Search Scavenger Hunt

For families with children in grades 3-5+

Build spelling skills and vocabulary

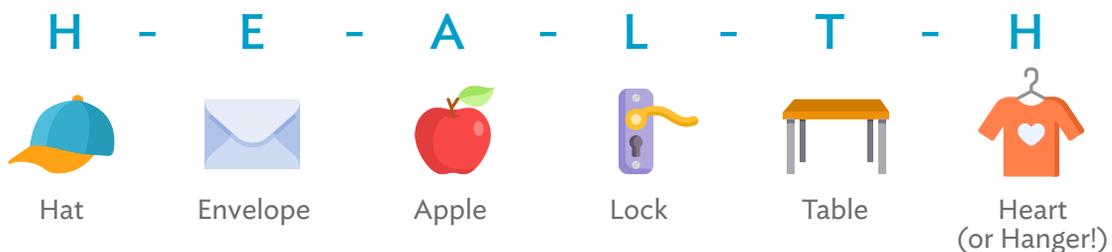

To get started:

1. As a family, choose a word or phrase you want to spell out.
2. Choose a word or phrase that is meaningful to your family. To make it more challenging, choose a long word with less common letters (e.g., V, Z).
3. Write it out so everyone knows how to spell it.

During your scavenger hunt:

1. Look for items that begin with each letter in the word or phrase you chose, in the correct order. For example, if your word is “H-E-A-L-T-H” for example, first find an item that starts with “H” (e.g., hat), followed by “E” (e.g., envelope), “A” (e.g., apple), etc. until items have been found to spell the whole word.
2. Challenge family members to a “race” and see who can complete the scavenger hunt the fastest; make it a competition between individuals or teams.
3. When each family member or team finds an item, they get to choose one activity for the whole family to do for 10 seconds. (See examples below.)
4. Bring each item to a common area or take a picture to show that you have found each correct item before completing each activity and moving on to the next letter.

Strategies to Promote Motivation

Keeping young people motivated can be a big obstacle and cause of tension for families. Whether with homework, chores, or activities, youth often have very different perspectives from adults in their lives about what needs to be done and when things should happen.

Try these tips to boost motivation and cooperation. Keep in mind that these tips work best when everyone is calm. If emotions are high, take a moment to relax with these quick strategies before moving forward together.

STRATEGY 1:

“Have To” and “Can Do”

All people appreciate choice more than demands. Identify for youth what tasks must get done (the “have to’s”) and provide places for choice (the “can do’s”).

INSTEAD OF SAYING	TRY SAYING
Clean your room!	You have to clean your room today. When is a good time for you to get that done?
Put your toys away.	It’s time to clean up. Would you like to pick the cleaning music?

STRATEGY 2:

Co-planning

Youth of all ages value being part of the planning process. Ask youth to share their priorities and create a plan together.

INSTEAD OF SAYING	TRY SAYING
Here is our plan for today.	I have a lot of things I need to do today. What is on your list? How can we help each other get them done?
I made this appointment for you.	Let’s write the top three things we each want to do today and decide together how to get them done.

STRATEGY 3:

Noticing

Asking direct questions, especially when they involve something we are supposed to be doing, can cause people to become defensive and reactive. Instead, start a more supportive conversation with observations and open-ended questions.

INSTEAD OF SAYING	TRY SAYING
Why aren't you doing your homework?	I noticed that you've stopped doing your homework. Is there something you need?
Why are you yelling?	I noticed your voice is getting really loud. Should we take a pause?

STRATEGY 4:

Inviting

Adults can sometimes be overbearing in their desire to support youth. Rather than insisting or taking over, make yourself available to young people and offer them an invitation to go further together.

INSTEAD OF SAYING	TRY SAYING
Stop. Let me help.	I can see you're trying. What can I do to help?
We need to talk about your grades.	I'd really love for us to talk about how school is going. When is a good time for you?

STRATEGY 5:

Talk less, listen more

When adults are focused on getting their own ideas across, youth perspectives are overlooked and young people are less inclined to engage with adults to solve problems. Avoid this by letting the youth go first.

INSTEAD OF SAYING	TRY SAYING
Let me tell you what I think.	What do you think? Here is my concern. Why don't you share your thoughts first.

Family Agreements

When group members are on the same page about important values and commitments, it can create a sense of safety and boost feelings of happiness in the brain. Family agreements can also strengthen relationships and support kids of all ages in making responsible choices.

HOW TO USE

- Use the guide below to create simple family agreements
- Print a copy of this page or write your responses on a piece of paper
- Hang your agreements in a central location, such as on the refrigerator

Have a family meeting

Discuss what is most important to your family. A good way to decide on your shared values is to ask, "What do we expect of each other?" Kindness, fairness and cleanliness are examples that may come up. Write your shared values here:

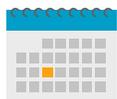

Choose small commitments

What steps can each person take to support your shared values? Work together to choose 3-5 activities that you will commit to doing, such as completing school work or turning off screens at least an hour before bedtime. Write them here:

Remind one another

Hang a small sign by the door to remind family members of your agreements whenever they are leaving the house. Include a quote (e.g., "Respect yourself and others"), an image or another cue that reminds family members about what is important.

Revisit your agreements

Get together often to talk about how things are going and decide if you need to make any adjustments. Schedule a family meeting if you are noticing difficulties or want to praise the family for sticking with it!

Super Sleep Spaces

Sleep environments have a great impact on sleep quality, and getting a good night's sleep can help you wake up energized and ready to learn. Try these suggestions to create healthy sleep spaces at home.

Keep it dark

The brain's sleep/awake cycle takes cues from the level of light in your environment.

To send the signal that it's time to sleep:

- Close blinds or curtains
- Cover your eyes with a sleep mask
- Turn off screens, like the TV or phones

Keep it quiet

Similar to light, loud or persistent noises can keep the brain awake and alert.

To find quiet:

- Use earplugs—look for them at grocery and convenience stores!
- Try a fan to create calming background noise
- Use a white noise machine or app

Keep it comfortable

Just like Goldilocks, kids and adults sleep best in spaces that feel just right.

To find a Goldilocks set-up:

- Choose pillows, sheets, and blankets that are comfy
- Wear loose-fitting, comfortable pajamas
- Aim for around 60-67 degrees at night

Keep it relaxing

No matter the size of your room, make it a sleep-focused space.

To make a soothing sleep space:

- Keep phones and tablets away from your bed when it's time for sleep
- Write, draw, or read something calming before bed, rather than view a screen
- Encourage kids to do homework someplace other than where they sleep if possible

4 Ways to Get Kids Involved in the Kitchen

Preparing food as a family has many health benefits, especially for kids. When young people get involved in meal planning and cooking, they can develop math skills, explore their senses, practice creativity, and learn about nutrition and culture. And they're more likely to eat a variety of foods! Try these tips with your busy family to make cooking safe and fun for children.

1 Practice Mindful Mealtimes as a Family

Open questions about meals can help kids identify foods they want to try and prepare. A “mindful mealtime” gets the conversation going. Here’s how to get started:

- Take turns describing the color, smell, taste, sound, and feel of each food.
- Take turns describing how the food makes you feel, using words like “warm,” “full,” “energized,” “refreshed,” or “sleepy.”
- Name one ingredient or food in the meal and ask each person what the meal would be like if you replaced that food with something different.

2 Pick Kid-Friendly Recipes Together

Kid-friendly recipes are everywhere! Before you start cooking, it helps to read or watch a new recipe all the way through to make sure you have all the tools and ingredients you need. Here are a few tips for finding fun, free recipes:

- As a family, look for kid-friendly cookbooks and magazines at the library.
- Do an online search to find a free recipe blog or cooking demonstration video.

ACCESSIBILITY TIP! Look for cookbooks and online recipes with pictures or videos to help family members at all reading levels feel included.

4 Ways to Get Kids Involved in the Kitchen

3 Find Tasks for Everyone

Cooking with kids comes with particular safety concerns and a range of experience. After looking through a recipe's instructions, have everyone pick tasks that they can do safely.

- For younger family members, this might include stirring, measuring ingredients, and kneading dough.
- For teens and adults, tasks might include peeling, chopping, and heating.

TIME-SAVING TIP! Semi-prepared foods can make some steps more kid-friendly. For example, instant rice can be heated in the microwave, and many canned fruits and veggies, which have high nutritional content, are pre-cut and ready to go.

4 Let Young People Lead

As your family feels more confident cooking, give kids the opportunity to lead meal planning and preparation by choosing the menu, selecting a recipe, picking an unfamiliar ingredient they want to cook with, or trying a new cooking skill to teach the family. This encourages communication skills and a growth mindset, and you're sure to eat some delicious meals along the way!

Tips for Planning Family Meals on a Budget

The average cost of groceries has risen significantly in the last few years. Fortunately, there are ways to save time and money on family meals. Try these tips to plan, prepare, and save.

1. Build meals around your favorite staple foods

Staple foods, like canned, dried, and frozen goods, can make a nutritious foundation for delicious and affordable meals. Fill in the blanks with your favorite foods to help your family plan:

CHOOSE A STAPLE FOOD: _____

(Examples: Rice, root vegetables, beans, corn)

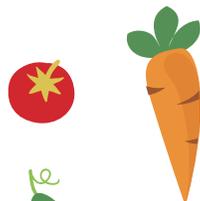

IT TASTES GOOD WITH: _____

(Examples: Proteins, veggies, fruits, dairy product/dairy substitute)

WE LIKE THESE FLAVORS: _____

(Examples: Herbs, spices, sauces, seasonings)

WE ARE MAKING: _____

(Name your dish)

2. Check the pantry before you shop and cook

Build your grocery list and meal plans around the ingredients you already have on hand. “Shopping your pantry” before you go to the store can make the most out of your meal budget.

- Before you shop, make a list of nonperishable foods that are already in your home.
- From that list, choose an ingredient that you’re not likely to eat on its own.
- Find a recipe that can help you turn that ingredient into a delicious dish. A quick online search is a great way to start.

Tips for Planning Family Meals on a Budget

3. Think about multiple meals for a “star” ingredient

We might have to get creative with food that is on sale or available for free. For example, with a coupon, green beans can take center stage in a stir-fry with rice one day and play a supporting role in three-bean salad the next.

- TRY IT! Ask each family member what they would make with the same star ingredient. Try to make at least two of the ideas.

4. Give leftovers a makeover

- As a family, decide how you want to makeover your leftovers – for example, by incorporating cooked veggies into burritos and wraps, pizza night, or hot sandwiches.
- Consider adding ingredients you already have at home, like tortillas or canned tomatoes.
- Wrap, mix, layer, and season leftover ingredients to create something new and delicious.

Repurposing leftovers can save time and money when you add a few inexpensive ingredients.

COMMUNITY TIP:

Connect with nutrition programs near you

If you're looking to tap into nutrition resources in your community, consider connecting with your local food pantry, school nutrition staff, community center or library, or city or tribal offices. They can help you access food, meet other families, and volunteer. Find out if you are eligible to receive WIC benefits at www.fns.usda.gov/wic or SNAP benefits at www.fns.usda.gov/snap.

ACTIVITIES

Animal Copycats

ACTIVITY: STRETCHING

1. Choose a comfortable space to move. Lay out a towel or set up a chair to sit on.
2. Think of an animal you like and imagine how they would stretch. Would they arch their back? Flap their wings? Lie on the ground and roll from side to side? Now imitate that animal, holding the stretch for 10-20 seconds.

Bonus: Make the sounds your animal makes!

3. Pick another animal and stretch again!

STRETCHING FEELS GOOD AND KEEPS YOUR MUSCLES FLEXIBLE

Guess the Weather

ACTIVITY: FULL BODY MOVEMENT

1. Find a sheet of paper, a pair of scissors, and something to write with. Cut the paper into small pieces.
2. On each piece, write down a weather word, like rain, wind, sun, thunder, or lightning. More ideas: heat, cold, hail, cloudy, rainbow, tornado.
3. With a partner, take turns picking a piece of paper and acting out the weather word without talking. The bigger your movements, the better. The weather is big!

MAKING UP MOVEMENTS IS FUN AND ENERGIZING

Rainbow Roundup

ACTIVITY: FOCUSED EXERCISES

1. Find a place—indoors or outside—where you have room to move around and can see lots of colorful objects.
2. With a partner, take turns naming the color of 8 different objects. Do the movement that matches its color:

Red: RUN in place for 10 seconds.

Orange: OPEN your arms as wide as you can and stretch for 10 seconds.

Yellow: YAWN as big as you can 3 times.

Green: GALLOP 5 times in a circle like a horse.

Blue: BEND forward, reaching toward your toes. Hold the stretch for 10 seconds.

Purple: PLAY air guitar for 10 seconds.

BUILDING A STRONG, FLEXIBLE BODY
HELPS YOU DO THE THINGS YOU ENJOY

Balancing Acts

ACTIVITY: BALANCE

1. Standing in place, slowly lift one foot and balance on the other. Hold this position for 10 seconds. Then switch and balance on the second side.
2. Imagine a straight line in front of you like a balance beam. Place one foot in front of the other, walking 20 steps, touching heel to toe. Then try to walk backward, heel to toe, along the same line.
3. Seated in a chair or on the floor, sit up as tall as you can with your legs in front of you. Slowly raise one leg, then slowly lower it. Repeat with your other leg. Do this five times. If you feel like tipping to the side, use your core muscles to stay upright.
